

The variance-matching exponent: predicted per-sample targets with and without β

